

- Political Will: William Siedhoff, St. Louis, MO

Jurisdictional leadership and political will are key elements of successful 10-Year Plan development and implementation. States, counties, and cities that have 2-3 years' of implementation history have frequently had the opportunity to examine how political will to end homelessness is developed and maintained in both policy and budget arenas, as well as to examine transitions in leadership and the opportunity to expand political will through revitalization and recalibration activities, as well as through proven strategies such as cost benefit analysis and public reporting.